Scallon Aids In State Fair Building Program

BILL FOR MILLION IN CONSTRUCTION IN NEXT 10 YEARS

GOVERNOR OLSON DEFIES SENATE THREAT OF BLOCKING PEYTON NOMINATION

NAME OF 4 OTHER APPOINTEES SENT TO SENATE FOR CONFIRMATION TODAY

St. Paul, Feb. 3.—(U.P.)—Representative-at-large Edward P. Scallon of Crosby, representing Crow Wing and Morrison counties, said today he would introduce a bill providing for a $1,000,000 building program for the Minnesota State Fair during the next ten years.

St. Paul, Feb. 3.—Despite threat of a united move to block confirmation of the appointment, Gov. Floyd B. Olson today sent to the senate the name of J. N. Peyton for approval as state banking commissioner.

Both liberal and conservative forces were said to be uniting to block confirmation of the Peyton appointment on grounds that he is president of the Pioneer National Bank of Duluth which has refused to pay state taxes.

Gov. Olson today dismissed the rumored move of liberals and conservatives as "mere gossip" and "insignificant."

The names of four other of his appointees simultaneously were sent to the senate for confirmation. They are: Edward J. Pearllove as state comptroller to succeed Henry Rines; Geo. A. Wallace as tax commissioner to succeed J. H. McNeven; C. F. Gaarenstroom as secretary of the rural credit bureau to succeed H. H. Flowers; and Melvin Passolt as superintendent of the state bureau of criminal apprehension to succeed Gen. W. F. Rhinow.

House leaders predicted passage late today of the bill to increase the Minnesota highway patrol force from 35 to 100 men.

It also was expected that the house would act favorably on the measure turning back to Lake City the 200 acre national guard camp at Lakeview abandoned and supplanted by the new national guard camp at Little Falls.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 3.—(U.P.)—A fresh outbreak of heated argument over Gov. Floyd B. Olson's campaign to "place efficient and industrious executives in charge of state departments" occupied Minnesota's legislators today.

Opposition to appointment of J. N. Peyton of Duluth as state commissioner of banks was the chief point of dispute. Another factor which caused heated argument was N. J. Holmberg's demand for a formal hearing before he leaves his position as commissioner of agriculture.

Governor Olson was represented as being in favor of an investigation of the Peyton appointment, which he announced Saturday, after being informed that the bank of which the Duluth man is president has refused to pay its taxes to the state for the past two years.

Peyton went to the state capital today, supposedly to acquaint himself with his new duties. Olson was reported to have requested a conference with Peyton before sending his appointment to the senate for confirmation.

Legislators who oppose the appointment pointed out that Peyton's bank, the Pioneer National of Duluth, was the first federal bank ever to refuse payment of state taxes in Minnesota. Following the example of the Pioneer National, all of Minnesota's federal banks since have refused to pay taxes.

Peyton explained the action of his bank by saying that it provided "a test for an unconstitutional tax law and may clear up a muddle which was unpleasant for the state and for federal banks."

The Holmberg controversy arose over the agricultural commissioner's announcement that he will not quit under fire without a public hearing. He pointed out that he had held office for 12 years and that until a few weeks ago no complaints were made against his administration.

"Reports have been published," Holmberg said, "that confirmation of my re-appointment will be opposed in the senate."

"There have been insinuations against my conduct in office. In view of these insinuations and imputations, I can not with dignity withdraw under fire."

The battle over appointment of Peyton and removal of Holmberg, which Governor Olson has demanded, held up discussion of several other controversial measures in both house and senate. Among the bills which are scheduled to be discussed when the matter of appointments is disposed of is a proposed measure providing for a state referendum on prohibition.

DAISY DE VOE IN PLEA FOR MERCY

CONSIDERED BY JUDGE WHO DENIED HER A NEW TRIAL

Los Angeles, Feb. 3.—(U.P.)—Daisy De Voe's plea for mercy was under consideration today by Judge William C. Doran who had denied her a new trial on charges that she stole money from Clara Bow, her employer.

Arguments on her application for probation will be heard next Tuesday, but it was indicated it would require probation officers at least two weeks longer than that to complete their report.

Defense Attorney William Beirne late yesterday based his plea for a new trial on charges that the verdict finding Miss De Voe guilty of grand theft was obtained "by lot and chance," contending the jury had found her guilty on one charge and not guilty on 34 as a compromise after being deadlocked for many hours.

Beirne also contended that letters to Clara Bow from Harry Richman, Rex Bell and Dr. Earl Pierson should not have been introduced at the trial because theft of the letters had not been charged in the indictment.

Judge Doran, in denying the plea, ruled that even if there were technical errors in the record, "they were not of a sort to prejudice any of the defendant's constitutional rights."

He added that he considered the evidence of Miss DeVoe's guilt as "overwhelming."

Hines Refuses to Endorse Any of 4 Plans For Readjusting Veterans Compensation

TESTIFIES BEFORE SENATE FINANCE COMMITTEE

SAYS CONGRESS SHOULD GIVE FURTHER EXTENSION OF BENEFITS TO DISABLED

TO THE WIDOWS AND ORPHANS OF DECEASED EX-SERVICE MEN

Washington, Feb. 3.—(U.P.)—General Frank T. Hines, head of the United States veterans bureau, testifying before the senate finance committee today refused to endorse any of the four plans for readjusting veterans' compensations which have been suggested to congress.

"My best advice is," he said, "that the congress should give consideration to the further extension of benefits to the disabled, to the widows and orphans of deceased ex-service men, and to the building of additional hospitals and holders' homes to care for the sick, and leave the able-bodied ex-service men to take their places along with the other citizens of the country in working out their own salvation in these distressing times."

While Hines was testifying before the senate committee, E. D. Duffield, president of the Prudential Life Insurance Company, was telling the house ways and means committee that issuance at this time of a large amount of new government securities to pay a cash bonus would postpone a return of prosperity. A prediction that prosperity "is not far distant," was made by Duffield, who was the first of several financial and industrial leaders called by Chairman Hawley of the house committee to bolster opposition to the cash bonus.

Hines before the senate committee enumerated the four plans under consideration as:

1. The payment of face value of all adjusted-service certificates.
2. The payment of the present value of all adjusted service certificates.
3. Payment of adjusted service credits, plus 25 per cent, and plus 4 per cent interest to the present time.
4. Increased loans.

"The first three plans mentioned while providing a real measure of cash relief, are, according to the secretary of the treasury and other financial experts, unsound from a financial and economic standpoint," Hines said.

"Therefore, I find myself in the predicament of being unable to recommend one plan because of the inadequacy of the relief afforded and the others because of their adverse effect on the finances of the country."

Hines commented that many veterans who already have borrowed on their certificates "in most cases have spent the money so obtained on other than bare necessities." Among those who have so expended the money he saw no "emergency need for relief."

Hines recognized that there are many who do not need relief; however, he suggested that perhaps the

SPONGE BATHS ARE ORDERED TO MEET WATER SHORTAGE

Jacksonville, Ill., Feb. 3.—(U.P.)—Citizens of Jacksonville were instructed today to take sponge baths, rather than splash around in overflowing tubs, as an emergency measure due to a water shortage caused by the drought.

City authorities, who issued the order, also frowned on shower baths and washing of automobiles and advocated a return to Saturday night as bath night because of the saving that would result.

Water users whose meters show they are not cooperating in the effort to conserve the supply will have service shut off.

best way to aid them was to help them find employment.

He expressed the opinion that if certificates were "paid off at any value less than their face value the ex-service men of the country will feel that they have been forced to sacrifice the true amount which is due them and that after the amounts provided are paid and spent they will come back and demand that the difference between such amounts and the face value be paid them."

New York, Feb. 3.—The various states have issued approximately $270,000,000 bonds to pay bonuses for war veterans, according to most recent figures compiled.

The amount of the bonded debt of northwest states for that purpose on July 1, 1929, as figured by the Bank of America, is as follows:

Illinois, $46,250,000; Iowa, $15,400,000; Kansas, $24,500,000; Michigan, $30,000,000; Minnesota, $925,000; Missouri, $14,972,000; South Dakota, $6,000,000.

CAIRNS FLED FROM MILL CITY CAFE, OFFICERS' BULLET FELL HIM

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 3.—(U.P.)—Joe Cairns, a world war veteran, was shot and killed today in an argument with Mathew Maas, a policeman, in an argument over Cairns' war record.

Witnesses said that Cairns fled from a cafe after a dispute during which the policeman told him to "shut up." A bullet from the officers' gun felled the veteran in the street outside the cafe.

Then, the witnesses, said, Maas stood over Cairns and shot several times as he lay on the sidewalk.

SHEPARD SEEKS A NEW TRIAL

WAS CONVICTED ON CHARGE OF MURDERING HIS WIFE BY POISON

Topeka, Kan., Feb. 3.—(U.P.)—Whether Maj. Charles A. Shepard will have a second trial on charges of murdering his wife with bichloride of mercury poison will probably be announced here today.

Federal Judge Richard W. Hopkins had under advisement the plea of the 59-year-old army officer's counsel and counter argument of the prosecution which gained Shepard a sentence of life imprisonment in his first trial at Kansas City, Kan.

He was expected to pronounce his verdict on the motion for a new trial this afternoon.

Harry S. Glass, Denver attorney, asked Judge Hopkins to set aside the verdict finding Shepard guilty of poisoning his wife, and discharge him.

U. S. District Attorney S. M. Brewster upheld the legality of the trial and contended the government's case admitted no other decision than life imprisonment for the defendant.

The defense plea was based on alleged errors in admission of evidence in the first trial last December.

Major Shepard sat quietly through the arguments, lasting most of yesterday.

DO-X FLIGHT IS POSTPONED

TEMPORARY MOTOR TROUBLE KEEPS PLANE IN CANARY ISLANDS

Las Palmas, Canary Islands, Feb. 3.—(U.P.)—The German flying boat DO-X flight to Cape Verde Islands was postponed today due to temporary motor trouble.

The DO-X started maneuvers for departure on its flight, but the motor trouble forced the delay. The trouble was repaired at 8:30 A. M., which officials considered too late to permit the ship, which is at Gando Bay, 25 miles from Las Palmas, to reach Cape Verde before dusk.

Later, the right pontoon of the DO-X was damaged when the plane was returning from Gando Bay to Las Palmas, navigating on the surface of the water.

Officials said the extent of damage was uncertain, but that the date of departure was indefinite until it was determined how much time would be required to repair the ship.

CONNOLLY HELD WITHOUT BAIL AS APPEAL PENDS

New York, Feb. 3.—(U.P.)—James A. Connolly, St. Paul sportsman and broker, was held without bail today pending an appeal from a sentence of 10 years in Atlanta and fines totalling $25,000 imposed after his conviction yesterday on charges of selling stolen securities through the mails.

A jury deliberated only 15 minutes to find Connolly guilty. He was acquitted in 1923 on a charge of selling bonds stolen by Gerald Chapman and Dutch Anderson in a mail robbery.

Federal Judge Knox denounced Connolly as "worse than the men who stole the securities."

New York, Feb. 3.—(U.P.)—James Connolly, St. Paul sportsman, today was sentenced to 10 years imprisonment and fined $3,000 upon his conviction of a charge of using the mails to defraud through attempted sale of stolen securities.

The sentence came when it was discovered that the original fine of $25,000 was in excess of that which the law allows. He was fined $1,000 on each of three counts, the maximum.

GROUP FUNERAL PLANNED FOR 12

Grafton, N. D., Feb. 3.—(U.P.)—A group funeral was being planned today for the 12 persons who attended a party at the Edward Hein farm home last Thursday, ate a salad containing home-preserved peas and died of food poisoning.

The latest victim to die was Joseph Leach, 26, a nephew of Hein. His death was accompanied by the same symptoms as the others, intense pain and paralysis of the throat muscles.

Dr. G. W. Glaspel said the deaths were caused by a form of food poisoning known as botulism. The germ which causes the disease, he said, can not be killed by the heat usually used in home preserving and thrives in airless containers.

ACCOMPANIED BY TIDAL WAVES, LANDSLIDES, FIRE

CAUSES UNDETERMINED LOSS OF LIFE ON EAST COAST, NORTH ISLAND

IMMENSE PROPERTY DAMAGE CAUSED BY UNUSUAL VISITATION

By F. W. GRACE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Auckland, New Zealand, Feb. 3.—A devastating earthquake accompanied by landslides, tidal waves and fire, caused immense property damage and an undetermined loss of life along the east coast of North Island, New Zealand, today.

First reports received here came from ships along the coast and by radio-telephone. The damage was summarized as follows:

Napier, east coast town with a population of over 11,000, reported practically razed. Fire followed earthquake which ruined ordinary water supply; flames fought by water pumped from sea; loss of life feared great; dwellings on cliff 300 feet high tumbled into sea; general hospital reported buried in the landslide; harbor bottom believed raised permanently; ships fled to open sea to escape being stranded in suddenly decreasing water.

Hastings, a few miles inland, southwest of Napier, officially stated 21 persons dead, but unofficial estimates high as 100; town extensively damaged; six fires followed earthquake in business district.

Gisborne, on the east coast about 100 miles north of Napier; almost every building damaged; fatalities undetermined.

Mangaweka, extensive property damage; landslide blocked the river Rangitiki.

Waipunauru, hospitals, schools, post office, all larger buildings damaged or destroyed; bridges and roads throughout wide area disrupted, delaying efforts at rescue and threatening survivors with food shortage; loss of life not yet reported.

Taupo, extensive property damage; no fatalities reported.

Rotorua, about 120 miles inland from Napier, apparently entire district between these towns was in the quake zone; many buildings shaken and damaged; first reports mentioned no loss of life.

Refugees from Napier fled panic stricken toward the south. Disrupted roads and debris from landslides made their progress difficult. Others were taken aboard warships and other vessels in Napier harbor.

Merchant vessels were ordered to stand by and assist the survivors, but their efforts were hampered by the astounding change in the formation of Napier Bay. Apparently the harbor bottom had risen permanently.

The Veronica, a naval sloop, was caught when water rushed from the bay and left stranded on the ocean bottom. She was refloated by a subsequent tidal wave.

Reports from along the coast said that the phenomenon recorded at Napier was observed elsewhere. It was said that the ocean water receded during the most intense part of the earthquake.

The greatest losses of life at Napier were believed due to the collapse of the town's largest hotel, a three-story brick building, and the tumbling of numerous residences on a cliff into the sea. The center of the town was reported almost wiped out by the earthquake and subsequent fire.

Apparently the disturbance centered at Napier and extended about 100 miles north and west and about 50 miles south. There was a possibility that ships at sea might have been affected.

There were several reports of damage to hospitals in which helpless patients were caught and demolished or crushed by landslides.

Telegraph and telephone communication with the earthquake area was disrupted and the first reports of death and destruction received here came by ships' wireless. The Veronica and the steamer Northumberland reported the need of immediate medical assistance.

Doctors, nurses and supplies were rushed from Auckland aboard the British cruisers Dunedin and Diomed, capable of making 29 knots an hour.

100 PERSONS KILLED AT NAPIER, N. Z.

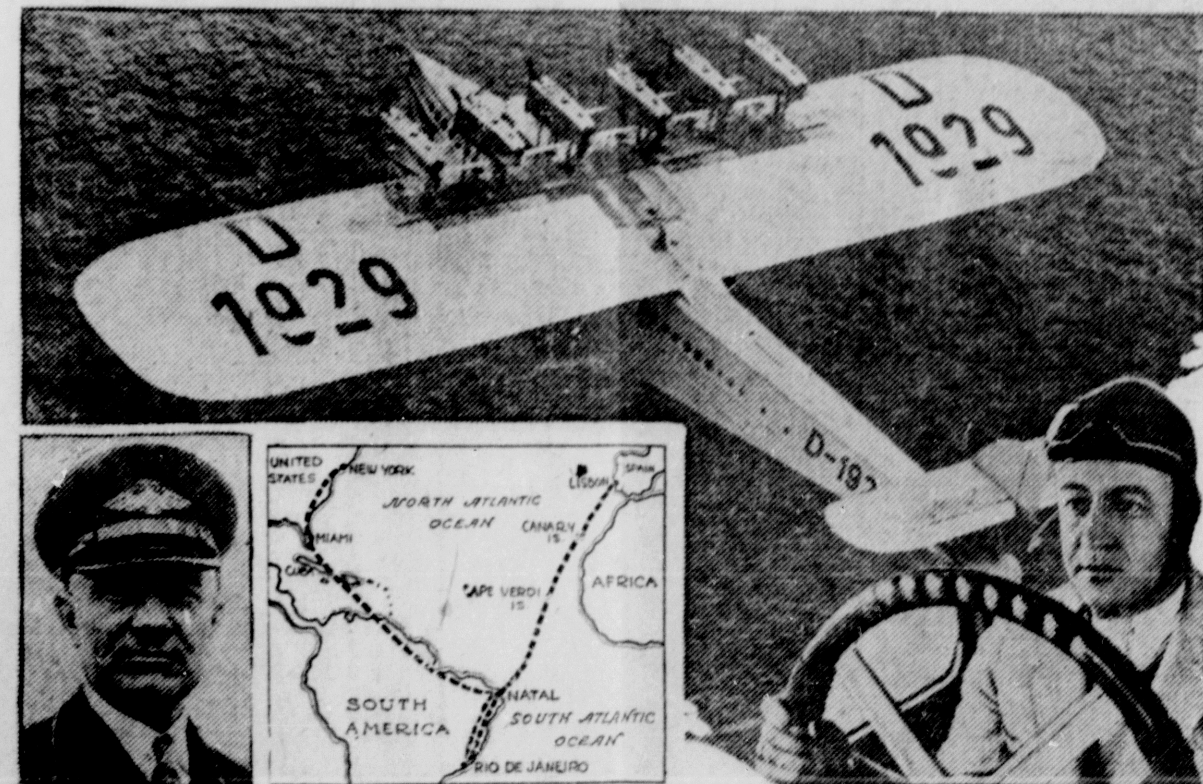

Auckland, Feb. 3.—Semi-official wireless advices received today said 100 persons had been killed at Napier in the earthquake which devastated that district. About 1,000 others were injured.

SHAKEN AGAIN BY NEW TREMORS

Auckland, New Zealand, Feb. 4.—(Wednesday)—The broadly-curved eastern coast of North Island, which was rocked near Hawks Bay by a devastating earthquake early Tuesday, was shaken again at midnight by new tremors which were less violent.

The new tremors which occurred at intervals, hampered the feverish work of rescue in the stricken district around Napier, where semi-official advices reported 100 dead, and Hastings, where 21 were known killed and 100 others unofficially estimated dead.

As DO-X Started on First Leg of Flight

Setting out on a 11,500 mile flight to New York via the South Atlantic and Brazil, the DO-X, giant German twelve-motored flying boat, took off from Lisbon, with her first scheduled stop at Las Palmas, Canary Islands. The human

CAIRNS FLED FROM MILL CITY CAFE, OFFICERS' BULLET FELL HIM

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 3.—(U.P.)—Joe Cairns, a world war veteran, was shot and killed today in an argument with Matthew Mass, a policeman, in an argument over Cairns' war record.

Witnesses said that Cairns fled from a cafe after a dispute during which the policeman told him to "shut up." A bullet from the officers' gun felled the veteran in the street outside the cafe.

Then, the witnesses, said, Mass stood over Cairns and shot several times as he lay on the sidewalk.

SHEPARD SEEKS A NEW TRIAL

WAS CONVICTED ON CHARGE OF MURDERING HIS WIFE BY POISON

Topeka, Kan., Feb. 3.—(U.P.)—Whether Maj. Charles A. Shepard will have a second trial on charges of murdering his wife with bichloride of mercury poison will probably be announced here today.

Federal Judge Richard W. Hopkins had under advisement the plea of the 59-year-old army officer's counsel and counter argument of the prosecution which gained Shepard a sentence of life imprisonment in his first trial at Kansas City, Kan.

He was expected to pronounce his verdict on the motion for a new trial this afternoon.

Harry S. Glass, Denver attorney, asked Judge Hopkins to set aside the verdict finding Shepard guilty of poisoning his wife, and discharge him.

U. S. District Attorney S. M. Brewster upheld the legality of the trial and contended the government's case admitted no other decision than life imprisonment for the defendant.

The defense plea was based on alleged errors in admission of evidence in the first trial last December.

Major Shepard sat quietly through the arguments, lasting most of yesterday.

DO-X FLIGHT IS POSTPONED

TEMPORARY MOTOR TROUBLE KEEPS PLANE IN CANARY ISLANDS

Las Palmas, Canary Islands, Feb. 3.—(U.P.)—The German flying boat DO-X flight to Cape Verde Islands was postponed today due to temporary motor trouble.

The DO-X started maneuvers for departure on its flight, but the motor trouble forced the delay. The trouble was repaired at 8:30 A. M., which officials considered too late to permit the ship, which is at Gando Bay, 25 miles from Las Palmas, to reach Cape Verde before dusk.

Later, the right pontoon of the DO-X was damaged when the plane was returning from Gando Bay to Las Palmas, navigating on the surface of the water.

Officials said the extent of damage was uncertain, but that the date of departure was indefinite until it was determined how much time would be required to repair the ship.

CONNOLLY HELD WITHOUT BAIL AS APPEAL PENDS

New York, Feb. 3.—(U.P.)—James A. Connolly, St. Paul sportsman and broker, was held without bail today pending an appeal from a sentence of 10 years in Atlanta and fines totalling $25,000 imposed after his conviction yesterday on charges of selling stolen securities through the mails.

A jury deliberated only 15 minutes to find Connolly guilty. He was acquitted in 1923 on a charge of selling bonds stolen by Gerald Chapman and Dutch Anderson in a mail robbery.

Federal Judge Knox denounced Connolly as "worse than the men who stole the securities."

New York, Feb. 3.—(U.P.)—James Connolly, St. Paul sportsman, today was sentenced to 10 years imprisonment and fined $3,000 upon his conviction of a charge of using the mails to defraud through attempted sale of stolen securities.

The sentence came when it was discovered that the original fine of $25,000 was in excess of that which the law allows. He was fined $1,000 on each of three counts, the maximum.

GROUP FUNERAL PLANNED FOR 12

Grafton, N. D., Feb. 3.—(U.P.)—A group funeral was being planned today for the 12 persons who attended a party at the Edward Hein farm home last Thursday, ate a salad containing home-preserved peas and died of food poisoning.

The latest victim to die was Joseph Leach, 26, a nephew of Hein. His death was accompanied by the same symptoms as the others, intense pain and paralysis of the throat muscles.

Dr. G. W. Gaspel said the deaths were caused by a form of food poisoning known as botulism. The germ which causes the disease, he said, can not be killed by the heat usually used in home preserving and thrives in airless containers.

SALVAGERS HOPE TO REFLOAT VESSEL

Tokio, Japan, Feb. 3.—(U.P.)—The steamer Arabia Maru was to be unloaded today and hope was expressed by marine salvagers that the vessel could be refloated and towed here for repairs within a week.

The Arabia Maru, an Osaka Shosen Kaisha liner, was beached at the entrance of Tokyo Bay Sunday after being rammed by the Takao Maru. The vessel was enroute from Vancouver, B. C.

Held in Connection With Holdup of Bank

ACCOMPANIED BY TIDAL WAVES, LANDSLIDES, FIRE

CAUSES UNDETERMINED LOSS OF LIFE ON EAST COAST, NORTH ISLAND

IMMENSE PROPERTY DAMAGE CAUSED BY UNUSUAL VISITATION

By F. W. GRACE (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Auckland, New Zealand, Feb. 3.—A devastating earthquake accompanied by landslides, tidal waves and fire, caused immense property damage and an undetermined loss of life along the east coast of North Island, New Zealand, today.

First reports received here came from ships along the coast and by radio-telephone. The damage was summarized as follows:

Napier, east coast town with a population of over 11,000, reported practically razed; fire followed earthquake which ruined ordinary water supply; flames fought by water pumped from sea; loss of life feared great; dwellings on cliff 300 feet high tumbled into sea; general hospital reported buried in the landslide; harbor bottom believed raised permanently; ships fled to open sea to escape being stranded in suddenly decreasing water.

Hastings, a few miles inland, southwest of Napier, officially stated 21 persons dead, but unofficial estimates high as 100; town extensively damaged; six fires followed earthquake in business district.

Gisborne, on the east coast about 100 miles north of Napier; almost every building damaged; fatalities undetermined.

Mangaweka, extensive property damage; landslide blocked the river Rangitiki.

Waipukurau, hospitals, schools, post office, all larger buildings damaged or destroyed; bridges and roads throughout wide area disrupted, delaying efforts at rescue and threatening survivors with food shortage; loss of life not yet reported.

Taupo, extensive property damage; no fatalities reported.

Rotorua, about 120 miles inland from Napier, apparently entire district between these towns was in the quake zone; many buildings shaken and damaged; first reports mentioned no loss of life.

Refugees from Napier fled panic stricken toward the south. Disrupted roads and debris from landslides made their progress difficult. Others were taken aboard warships and other vessels in Napier harbor.

Merchant vessels were ordered to stand by and assist the survivors, but their efforts were hampered by the astounding change in the formation of Napier Bay. Apparently the harbor bottom had risen permanently.

The Veronica, a naval sloop, was caught when water rushed from the bay and left stranded on the ocean bottom. She was refloated by a subsequent tidal wave.

Reports from along the coast said that the phenomenon recorded at Napier was observed elsewhere. It was said that the ocean water receded during the most intense part of the earthquake.

The greatest losses of life at Napier were believed due to the collapse of the town's largest hotel, a three-story brick building, and the tumbling of numerous residences on a cliff into the sea. The center of the town was reported almost wiped out by the earthquake and subsequent fire.

Apparently the disturbance centered at Napier and extended about 100 miles north and west and about 50 miles south. There was a possibility that ships at sea might have been affected.

There were several reports of damage to hospitals in which helpless patients were caught and demolished or crushed by landslides.

Telegraph and telephone communication with the earthquake area was disrupted and the first reports of death and destruction received here came by ships' wireless. The Veronica and the steamer Northumberland reported the need of immediate medical assistance.

Doctors, nurses and supplies were rushed from Auckland aboard the British cruisers Dunedin and Diomed, capable of making 29 knots an hour.

100 PERSONS KILLED AT NAPIER, N. Z.

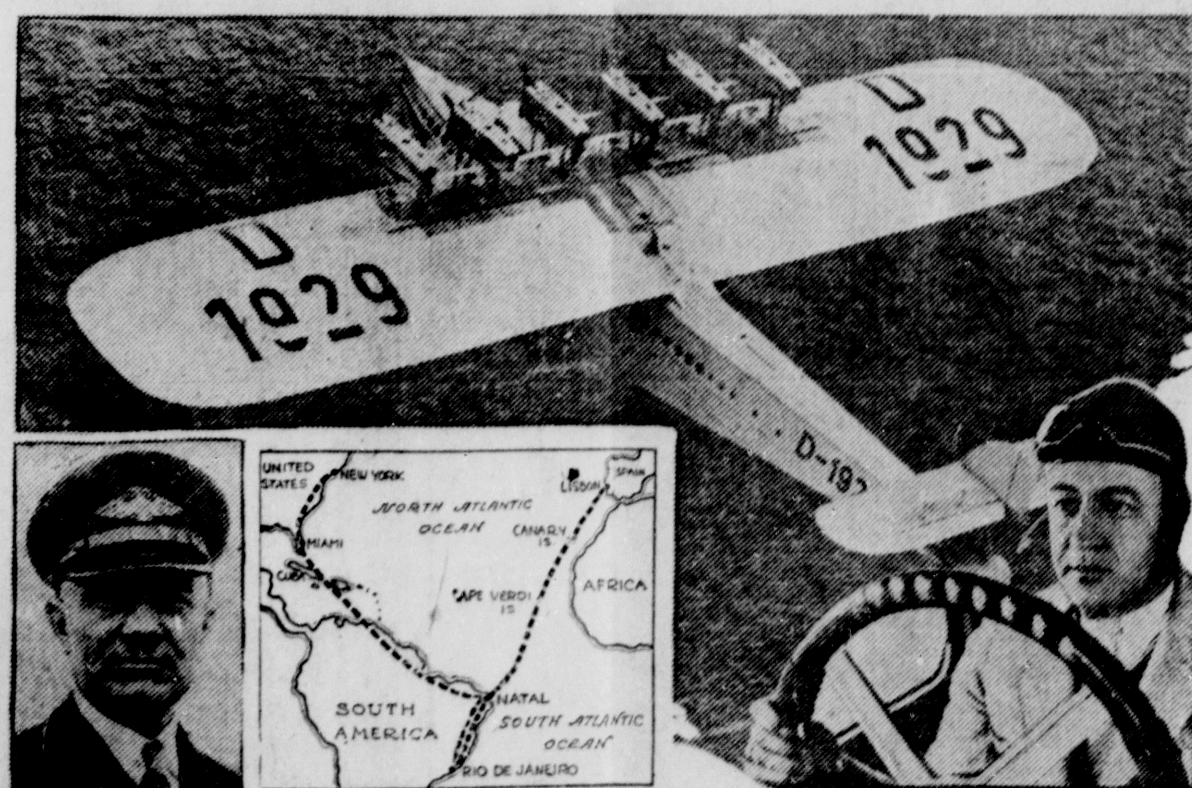

Auckland, Feb. 3.—Semi-official wireless advices received today said 100 persons had been killed at Napier in the earthquake which devastated that district. About 1,000 others were injured.

SHAKEN AGAIN BY NEW TREMORS

Auckland, New Zealand, Feb. 4.—(Wednesday)—The broadly-curved eastern coast of North Island, which was rocked near Hawks Bay by a devastating earthquake early Tuesday, was shaken again at midnight by new tremors which were less violent.

The new tremors which occurred at intervals, hampered the feverish work of rescue in the stricken district around Napier, where semi-official advices reported 100 dead, and Hastings, where 21 were known killed and 100 others unofficially estimated dead.

As DO-X Started on First Leg of Flight

Setting out on a 11,500 mile flight to New York via the South Atlantic and Brazil, the DO-X, giant German twelve-motored flying boat, took off from Lisbon, with her first scheduled stop at Las Palmas, Canary Islands. The human cargo on board totals nineteen; thirteen make up the crew, the others being passengers. The monster of the air is pictured above as she gracefully skims through the air under command of Captain Friedrich Christianen (lower left), master of the ship. Lieutenant C. H. Schildhauer (right), American assistant pilot, is expected to take the controls in the journey across the Atlantic. Map shows the route which has been planned in the epochal flight to New York City.

DULUTH MAN KILLS HIS WIFE, INJURES KIN

JOSEPH KAPLAN IN DOMESTIC TRAGEDY AT MIAMI,
FLORIDA

CRAZED MAN THEN ATTEMPTS TO COMMIT SUICIDE

Miami, Fla., Feb. 3.—(U.P.)—Joseph Kaplan, 30, of Duluth, Minn., took his estranged wife and sister-in-law for an automobile ride early today, confessedly shot and killed his wife, seriously wounded his sister-in-law and then attempted suicide.

Kaplan, suffering from a bullet wound near the heart, was quoted by police as saying, "Yes, I shot my wife. If I pull through I am willing to take the electric chair. We have been married five years. I have done my best for both of us, but she left me and did all she could to hurt me."

Miss Marie Sandman, 19, wounded in the abdomen, related that she tried to drag her sister, Ruth, wife of Kaplan, from the car after she was shot, "but Kaplan fired at me. I stumbled and fell, but I managed to stop a passing motorist."

According to Miss Sandman, her brother-in-law, seeking a reconciliation with his wife, persuaded the two women to take an automobile ride.

"He took out his revolver shortly after we started," she said. "He threatened us, but put the gun away when I screamed and reached over from the back seat and blew the horn."

"Kaplan then said 'I'll shoot her later.'"

"He continued driving and later stopped the car, drew the revolver and fired, killing my sister. Then he fired at me, and then tried to kill himself."

Kaplan and Miss Sandman were reported to be in serious condition at a hospital.

Minneapolis Missionary Held by Chinese Bandits is 'Well and Hopeful'

Washington, Feb. 3.—(U.P.)—Rev. Bert N. Nelson, Minneapolis missionary who has been held by Chinese bandits since last October, is "well and hopeful," Frank P. Lockhart, American consul at Hankow, China, informed the state department today.

The message was sent through the American Legion at Peiping. It informed the state department that the mayor of Hankow had promised to request Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek to issue "preemptory instructions" to his military commanders to rescue the Rev. Nelson, who now is held near the Nupeh-Anwei provincial border.

LOST MAIL BAG IS THOUGHT TO CONTAIN $35,000 IN BONDS

St. Paul, Feb. 3.—(U.P.)—Police and postal inspectors began an investigation today into the loss of a mail bag believed to contain $35,000 in bonds and other registered mail while it was being taken by motor truck from the postoffice to a railway station.

The truck made three stops enroute and when it arrived the mail bag was missing. Part of the bonds were reported to be negotiable.

Consider Additions to Veterans Hospitals

Washington, Feb. 3.—(U.P.)—The house veterans affairs committee today was considering evidence given by several witnesses in support of proposed additional hospital facilities for world war veterans in Minnesota.

They include a $525,000 addition to the present St. Cloud hospital, a $600,000 addition to the present hospital at Fort Snelling, an $800,000 convalescent hospital at Fort Snelling and authorization to use the Mayo clinic at Rochester as a diagnostic center.

HOOVER ATTACKS THE $25,000,000 RED CROSS BILL

HOUSE AND SENATE ARE DEAD-
LOCKED OVER THE RE-
LIEF FUND

PRESIDENT CLAIMS PROPOSAL "STRIKES AT ROOTS OF SELF- GOVERNMENT"

Washington, Feb. 3.—(U.P.)—President Hoover, meeting with newspapermen today, spiritedly attacked the $25,000,000 appropriation for Red Cross relief upon which the house and senate are deadlocked.

He said the proposal to use federal funds for food in the drought-stricken areas "strikes at the very roots of self government."

"I do not think I should be charged with lack of sympathy," said the president in a shaken voice as he recited some of his own experiences in relief work. "The people have the resources, the ability, the desire and the kindness of spirit to meet the situation."

In his own relief work, Mr. Hoover explained, relief always has been accomplished on the basis of voluntary contribution except where people were unable to care for themselves.

"Only this morning the Red Cross has notified me that no one is going hungry and that no one need go hungry or cold," Mr. Hoover said. He contended the Red Cross has the resources and ability to meet the situation as it stands.

If the Red Cross should find itself unable to cope with the spread of suffering, Mr. Hoover asserted, he would be as eager as any senator or congressman to take every possible step to alleviate the situation.

The appropriation of federal funds would break down the sense of responsibility of the citizens and local governments to meet the responsibility of local disasters to the full extent of their resources, the president argued. He cited the stand taken in 1887 by a democratic president, Grover Cleveland, against the use of federal money to relieve local distress.

Voluntary organizations already set up are spending many times more than the $25,000,000 proposed by the senate, he contended.

Summing It Up

OH THESE WOMEN!

By
LEOLA ALLARD

Copyright 1931, King Features
Syndicate, Inc.

Putting perfume on your face, behind your ears and on your arms can poison your skin and cause serious trouble.

Last week one of New York's foremost skin specialists remarked that he couldn't understand why women insisted upon putting perfume on their faces and back of their ears.

He told it to a lady who had an infected skin and who was considerably worried over the face. "It's nothing," he told her, "it will be gone in two days," and it was. But the lady thought she would like to give the information she got to other women, gratis. It cost her $50.

"We have a steady stream of women coming in here," said the specialist, "who have poisoned skin back of their ears, at the back of their necks and in their eye brows. Seldom on their scalp, because they put the perfume on their hair which usually keeps it from the scalp. I don't blame them for wanting to use perfume. A daintily perfumed woman isn't objected to by anybody. But why put it on their skin?"

The lady told him why. If you kiss someone, surely a daintily perfumed kiss is more desirable than one that smells of nice clean soap, although I have nothing against nice clean soap.

If you put it on your clothes usually it spots them.

"Well," said the doctor with a somewhat disgusted expression, "I think I could find some seams in my dress or some underwear that can be washed with soap and water where I could put the perfume, especially when I knew that it might poison my skin."

"But I've used this same perfume for years," she insisted.

"Doesn't make any difference. Women have come in here with that story before. Sometimes we had to test everything on their dressing tables to see what cosmetic or perfume caused the trouble. It's easy to tell. We place a drop of it on their arm and put cotton over it, and keep it there with adhesive tape for a certain length of time and if that's the particular thing that causes their trouble, the skin turns red and irritated. Then we put something on to cure up the spot right away. Perhaps the perfume you use won't do this to you for years and then, suddenly, one day it causes trouble, because your skin changes. Just as food agrees with you one time and upsets you another."

Eggs, he said, sometimes poison people and others can't drink milk and some people get pains when they take other foods. He said babies had been known to have convulsions on eating their first egg.

So don't put perfume back of your ears, or on your lips or on your neck or face. If you do get this trouble, don't do as this lady did, prescribe for yourself and put irritants on you to make the trouble worse. See a skin doctor and get over it pronto.

You are welcome. I hope it helps you.

GIRL UNAFRAID

GLADYS

Tragedy Averted by Matter of Minutes.

CHAPTER XLIII.

DOWN the hall, almost running to keep pace with Tom's long strides.

"We don't want to raise a row," Tom was explaining nervously. "Look like fools . . . get old Ken in wrong."

His office. The door locked when Tom tried the knob.

"Ken!" his voice was cautiously low. "I know you're in there. Let me in, old fellow."

Silence. The heavy silence of one who pretends not to be there.

At Tom's motion Ardeth put her lips close to the crack and pleaded. "Dear—it's Ardeth! Aren't you going to let us in?"

Her heart leaped. Surely—oh, surely she heard a little startled movement.

She stepped back, grasped Tom's arm and pointed to a window in an angle of the wall. "The fire escape goes under one of the windows in Ken's office. I can get in—"

"Let me—" He was beginning when her motion silenced him.

"No—I can do more with him—"

She had unlatched the window as she spoke and stepped onto the fire escape. A reeling moment when she saw the city far below. Then the intense need of the moment swallowed every other emotion. She was at Ken's window—struggling to open it.

She had a glimpse of him—at the desk writing and she saw his startled face turn as she succeeded in flinging up the window.

Nick of Time.

An open drawer at the desk. The glimpse of a revolver. She was running across the room, flinging her arms about him.

"No, darling! Not that! Never that! Oh, my dearest—"

Under her touch he sagged like a man suddenly deprived of strength. He slumped into his chair, which creaked sharply under his weight, his head dropped forward into his outflung arms and the sound of his smothered sobs tore the girl.

Ardeth saw what Tom had feared. Ken was broken. Utterly gone. She quietly unlocked the door and as Tom burst in, she flew back to Ken.

Over her shoulder her lips formed the words, "It's come."

Ardeth's eyes rested anxiously on Ken. He was painfully thin. There were deep hollows about his eyes, and the eyes had a strained look as though the man were pushed to the limits of endurance.

The sight of the girl was a shock to Ken. After the first outburst he was like one stunned. He slumped down in his chair and rested his head wearily on his hands, sunk in an indifference which was almost a stupor. He was content to let others take the reins, all his strength went to holding himself together.

Tom cleared his throat. "I believe she's down South."

Looking at him, Tom shook his head and beckoned the girl out of earshot.

"The calm before the storm," he whispered. "Ken's due for a crash. He looks like a man who's hanging on to sanity by one thread."

"Tom, I want a doctor's opinion. Can you get one?"

"Sure. Harry Knowles. He's known Ken for years and his office is only a couple of blocks away."

"Get him now. Have him come at once."

Ken did not lift his head when Tom left the office. Ardeth was here beside him, that was all which seemed to matter.

Trail's End.

His voice came muffled by his hands. "Awfully sorry—you saw. End of the trail, I guess. Weak as hell, I know, but why should a man go on living in prison—"

She pressed his head close to her, smoothing the damp brown hair. "Hush, dear, it's all right now. Close your eyes and rest—that's right."

After a moment he struggled up in panic and sweat spangled his forehead. "Ardeth—you're not going! Don't leave me—"

"I'll never leave you again."

A quiet finality in that which soothed him. He subsided, satisfied, like a sick child. Not even Tom's return with the doctor awoke interest in him.

Dr. Knowles pursed his lips when he looked at Ken.

After a brief examination he announced to the other two in a low voice. "Can't say I'm surprised. A man can't go on out-raging mind and body forever. Ken's been living on edge for months. And he's sensitive by na-

The message was sent through the American Legation at Peiping. It informed the state department that the mayor of Hankow had promised to request Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek to issue "preemptory instructions" to his military commanders to rescue the Rev. Nelson, who now is held near the Nupeh-Anwei provincial border.

LOST MAIL BAG IS THOUGHT TO CONTAIN $35,000 IN BONDS

St. Paul, Feb. 3.—(U.P.)—Police and postal inspectors began an investigation today into the loss of a mail bag believed to contain $35,000 in bonds and other registered mail while it was being taken by motor truck from the postoffice to a railway station.

The truck made three stops enroute and when it arrived the mail bag was missing. Part of the bonds were reported to be negotiable.

Consider Additions to Veterans Hospitals

Washington, Feb. 3.—(U.P.)—The house veterans affairs committee today was considering evidence given by several witnesses in support of proposed additional hospital facilities for world war veterans in Minnesota.

They include a $525,000 addition to the present St. Cloud hospital, a $600,000 addition to the present hospital at Fort Snelling, an $800,000 convalescent hospital at Fort Snelling and authorization to use the Mayo clinic at Rochester as a diagnostic center.

AFLOAT 6 HOURS IN MOTH PLANE

Miami, Fla., Feb. 3.—(U.P.)—Alden Freeman, honorary consul general for Haiti at Miami, was afloat for six hours in a single motored Moth plane Monday between Kingston, Jamaica, and Port au Prince, Haiti, but was rescued by a passing steamer, according to radio advices today to the Pan-America Airways.

HOOVER ATTACKS THE $25,000,000 RED CROSS BILL

HOUSE AND SENATE ARE DEAD-
LOCKED OVER THE RE-
LIEF FUND

PRESIDENT CLAIMS PROPOSAL
"STRIKES AT ROOTS OF SELF GOVERNMENT"

Washington, Feb. 3.—(U.P.)—President Hoover, meeting with newspapermen today, spiritedly attacked the $25,000,000 appropriation for Red Cross relief upon which the house and senate are deadlocked.

He said the proposal to use federal funds for food in the drought-stricken areas "strikes at the very roots of self government."

"I do not think I should be charged with lack of sympathy," said the president in a shaken voice as he recited some of his own experiences in relief work. "The people have the resources, the ability, the desire and the kindness of spirit to meet the situation."

In his own relief work, Mr. Hoover explained, relief always has been accomplished on the basis of voluntary contribution except where people were unable to care for themselves.

"Only this morning the Red Cross has notified me that no one is going hungry and that no one needs food or clothing," Mr. Hoover said. He contended the Red Cross has the resources and ability to meet the situation as it stands.

If the Red Cross should find itself unable to cope with the spread of suffering, Mr. Hoover asserted, he would be as eager as any senator or congressman to take every possible step to alleviate the situation.

The appropriation of federal funds would break down the sense of responsibility of the citizens and local governments to meet the responsibility of local disasters to the full extent of their resources, the president argued. He cited the stand taken in 1887 by a democratic president, Grover Cleveland, against the use of federal money to relieve local distress.

Voluntary organizations already set up are spending many times more than the $25,000,000 proposed by the senate, he contended.

Summing It Up

OH THESE WOMEN!

LEOLA ALLARD

Putting perfume on your face, behind your ears and on your arms can poison your skin and cause serious trouble.

Last week one of New York's foremost skin specialists remarked that he couldn't understand why women insisted upon putting perfume on their faces and back of their ears.

He told it to a lady who had an infected skin and who was considerably worried over the face. "It's nothing," he told her. "It will be gone in two days," and it was. But the lady thought she would like to give the information she got to other women, gratis. It cost her $50.

"We have a steady stream of women coming in here," said the specialist, "who have poisoned skin back of their ears, at the back of their necks and in their eye brows. Seldom on their scalp, because they put the perfume on their hair which usually keeps it from the scalp. I don't blame them for wanting to use perfume. A daintily perfumed woman isn't objected to by anybody. But why put it on their skin?"

The lady told him why. If you kiss someone, surely a daintily perfumed kiss is more desirable than one that smells of nice clean soap, although I have nothing against nice clean soap.

If you put it on your clothes usually it spots them.

"Well," said the doctor with a somewhat disgusted expression, "I think I could find some seams in my dress or some underwear that can be washed with soap and water where I could put the perfume, especially when I knew that it might poison my skin."

"But I've used this same perfume for years," she insisted.

"Doesn't make any difference. Women have come in here with that story before. Sometimes we had had to test everything on their dressing tables to see what cosmetic or perfume caused the trouble. It's easy to tell. We place a drop of it on their arm and put cotton over it, and keep it there with adhesive tape for a certain length of time and if that's the particular thing that causes their trouble, the skin turns red and irritated. Then we put something on to cure up the spot right away. Perhaps the perfume you use won't do this to you for years and then, suddenly, one day it causes trouble, because your skin changes. Just as food agrees with you one time and upsets you another."

Eggs, he said, sometimes poison people and others can't drink milk and some people get pains when they take other foods. He said babies had been known to have convulsions on eating their first egg.

So don't put perfume back of your ears, on your lips or on your neck or face. If you do get this trouble, don't do as this lady did, prescribe for yourself and put irritants on you to make that trouble worse. See a skin-doctor and get over it pronto. You are welcome. I hope it helps you.

Funeral Services for H. A. Rider of Little Falls

Little Falls, Minn., Feb. 3.—(U.P.)—Funeral services were held today for H. A. Rider, 80, who was a member of Minnesota's legislature in 1903 and 1905, state fish and game commissioner in 1893 and sheriff of Morrison county for six years.

As a civil engineer, Rider was closely associated with railroad construction in the northwest and Mexico. Rider died at his home here Saturday.

Fatally Shot After He Stole $60 from Cash Register

Rhineland, Wis., Feb. 3.—(U.P.)—Robert Davis, 37, Bayfield, was fatally shot by Hans and Tom Berg today after he had stolen $60 from the cash register of their garage at Haselhurst, Oneida county.

Sheriff A. J. Frossman of Bayfield county informed Sheriff Hans Rodd of Rhineland that Davis was a member of a bandit gang which had been operating for several months in northern Wisconsin.

GIRL UNAFRAID BY GLADYS JOHNSON

Tragedy Averted by Matter of Minutes.

CHAPTER XLIII.
DOWN the hall, almost running to keep pace with Tom's long strides.

"We don't want to raise a row," Tom was explaining nervously. "Look like fools... get old Ken in wrong."

His office. The door locked when Tom tried the knob.

"Ken!" his voice was cautiously low. "I know you're in there. Let me in, old fellow."

Silence. The heavy silence of one who pretends not to be there.

At Tom's motion Ardeth put her lips close to the crack and pleaded. "Dear—it's Ardeth! Aren't you going to let us in?"

Her heart leaped. Surely—oh, surely she heard a little startled movement.

She stepped back, grasped Tom's arm and pointed to a window in an angle of the wall. "The fire escape goes under one of the windows in Ken's office. I can get in—"

"Let me—" He was beginning when her motion silenced him.

"No—I can do more with him—"

She had unlatched the window as she spoke and stepped onto the fire escape. A reeling moment when she saw the city far below. Then the intense need of the moment swallowed every other emotion. She was at Ken's window—struggling to open it.

She had a glimpse of him—at the desk writing and she saw his startled face turn as she succeeded in flinging up the window.

Nick of Time.

An open drawer at the desk. The glimpse of a revolver. She was running across the room, flinging her arms about him. "No, darling! Not that! Never that! Oh, my dearest—"

Under her touch he sagged like a man suddenly deprived of strength. He slumped into his chair, which creaked sharply under his weight, his head dropped forward into his outflung arms and the sound of his smothered sobs tore the girl.

Ardeth saw what Tom had feared. Ken was broken. Utterly gone. She quietly unlocked the door and as Tom burst in, she flew back to Ken.

Over her shoulder her lips formed the words, "It's come." Ardeth's eyes rested anxiously on Ken. He was painfully thin. There were deep hollows about his eyes, and the eyes had a strained look as though the man were pushed to the limits of endurance.

The sight of the girl was a shock to Ken. After the first outburst he was like one stunned. He slumped down in his chair and rested his head wearily on his hands, sunk in an indifference which was almost a stupor. He was content to let others take the reins, all his strength went to holding himself together.

Looking at him, Tom shook his head and beckoned the girl out of earshot.

"The calm before the storm," he whispered. "Ken's due for a crash. He looks like a man who's hanging on to sanity by one thread."

"Tom, I want a doctor's opinion. Can you get one?"

"Sure. Harry Knowles. He's known Ken for years and his office is only a couple of blocks away."

"Get him now. Have him come at once."

Ken did not lift his head when Tom left the office. Ardeth was here beside him, that was all which seemed to matter.

Trail's End.

His voice came muffled by his hands. "Awfully sorry—you saw. End of the trail, I guess. Weak as hell, I know, but why should a man go on living in prison—?" She pressed his head close to her, smoothing the damp brown hair. "Hush, dear, it's all right now. Close your eyes and rest—that's right."

After a moment he struggled up in panic and sweat spangled his forehead. "Ardeth—you're not going! Don't leave me—"

"I'll never leave you again."

A quiet finality in that which soothed him. He subsided, satisfied, like a sick child. Not even Tom's return with the doctor awoke interest in him.

Dr. Knowles pursed his lips when he looked at Ken.

After a brief examination he announced to the other two in a low voice. "Can't say I'm surprised. A man can't go on out-raging mind and body forever. Ken's been living on edge for months. And he's sensitive by na-

Mille Lacs in the Sixth District

UNDER the reapportionment it is likely that two or three counties will have to be cut off from the Tenth district on account of the increase in population of the Minneapolis wards, says the Elk River Star News. If this is done the Princeton Union hopes Mille Lacs county will be shifted to the Sixth district and has the following to say about Congressman Harold Knutson:

"Here in Mille Lacs county we like our neighbor, Godfrey G. Goodwin of Cambridge, and gave him a good vote in the last election. But even the privilege of having Mr. Goodwin as our representative in congress would not compensate for the undesirable situation of being in a district more completely dominated by a slice of Minneapolis than is the Tenth at the present time. And if we must change congressmen, there is no one in the Minnesota delegation that looks more promising than Harold Knutson. Mr. Knutson has been in congress for fourteen years and he has considerable prestige in Washington. He is an indefatigable worker, has plenty of backbone and believes in looking after the interests of the home folks."

We believe the Sixth district would welcome the addition of Mille Lacs county. For a good many years Mille Lacs has extended right into the Sixth district country and was certainly out of place in the Tenth district. But perhaps Congressman Knutson would not be so keen for the addition because of the large number of Farmer-Labor voters over here.

Ladies' Physical Culture Classes

LADIES are taking a deep interest in the physical culture classes inaugurated by Miss Flueck. The attendance at the high school gymnasium was large last night, many new members having joined. Spectators, restricted to the gentler sex, numbered 35 or more.

It is surprising to see the stamina and endurance manifested by the ladies taking the course in exercise. They go through the various exercises with a hearty goodwill and a smile and never seem to tire. Miss Flueck varies the program and there is always something new to master.

The class has matrons as well as young girls. The uniforms are very becoming. The program is carried out with a dash and precision that compels admiration. Many have found that it offers a scientific aid to reducing, others that it keeps figures trim, and all that it is a real aid to health and vitality. The basketball play strengthens all muscles and improves the eye of the shooters.

Mild Weather Holds Threat for Flowers

MILD weather, a source of satisfaction to the consumer of fuel, holds a threat for florists and fruit growers, says W. H. Alderman, head of the division of horticulture, University Farm, St. Paul. As a result, gardeners and fruit growers are kept in a state of suspense.

The danger lies in the possibility of a sudden sharp fall in temperature. Should such a drop occur, says Professor Alderman, iris and other perennials would be likely to suffer; also such crops as winter wheat and strawberries. Strawberries have already suffered somewhat through an early fall freezing.

Moneys and Credits

READING the personal property lists one wonders if in proportion to population Crosby, Ironton and Deerwood have more moneys and credits reports than Brainerd or are the assessors more diligent in listing this section of a citizen's report.

In these days when savings accounts are growing heavier one would think there would be an appreciable increase in moneys and credits. The tax was purposely made low, only 30 cents a hundred dollars, so that everyone would report.

A CLOSE-up view of the new governor of Minnesota certainly does not lower our opinion of the new chief executive of the state, says the Little Falls Daily Transcript. Governor Olson was enthusiastically received by the people of Morrison county on his first visit at Little Falls Friday and he returned to the capital with many, many new friends added to his list of acquaintances.

IN these days of drought, winter or summer, it is hard to interest persons in the building of a relief storm sewer for downtown Brainerd. However, if the summer brings some sudden two inch downpours it will bring the subject back in startling fashion as basements fill with water.

PLANS are being made by the Minnesota section of the Society of American Foresters for introduction of a bill in the state legislature providing for a reforestation program similar to that advocated by Governor Floyd B. Olson.

MANY dear old parents think the university campus is the start of so-called "necking," forgetting that many a freshman may have had preparatory school experience in this study, probably even majoring in it.

COYOTE hunting by airplane provides plenty of sport. Charles Aagard and Jack Crawford of Rapid City, S. D., amateur pilots, while cruising the prairies shot two coyotes and chased another into a hole.

LUNCHEON club orators sometimes "extend" themselves and are surprised when they see their talks in print. Witness the commotion caused by the remarks of Major General Smedley D. Butler of the Marines.

ST. CLOUD Elks are to put on a minstrel show February 11 and 12. The first section is minstrel, the second part a musical revue.

RAILWAY employees have organized a Booster club at Staples, similar to those organized at other points on the railway system.

WHEN Greek meets Greek there is generally trouble. Up in St. Louis county it is one sheriff against another.

STEARNS county Red Cross drought relief contributions totalled $636 on Saturday.

WARRIORS AGAIN VICTORS AS AITKIN GAME ENDS WITH SCORE OF 18 TO 17

ACTION SLOW UNTIL SCORE NEARS TIE AT END OF GAME

Coach Dammann's lightning "Warriors" vanquished a speedy Aitkin quint last Friday by a 18-17 score. The Brainerd high school boys struck up a quick lead in the opening minutes and held it during the conflict.

Marshall, veteran guard, though suffering from a bad cold, stood the whole game and proved himself a valuable man by breaking up innumerable fast Aitkin attacks by his presence of mind. Templeton was high point man for the Warriors.

The Warriors did most of their heavy scoring in the first and third periods, but were held scoreless in the final period.

The Warriors fought hard all during the game and found many holes in the visitors' defense. They shot innumerable short shots from within the defense that failed to connect.

The first quarter opened with two snappy close-in shots by Templeton, forward. Foster followed closely with a nice short shot to set them well in the lead. Aitkin retaliated with a couple of nice shots. Marshall followed with a perfect long shot. Then, shortly before the end of the period, Templeton received the ball on the foul line and wiggled through a small space between two Aitkin guards to score a set up.

White went in for McPherson to start activities in the third quarter. Aitkin found the loop for a nice shot. Bob Wygle substituted for Templeton. Aitkin pushed in another and Marshall followed by tapping in a nice one from scrimmage. Franks and Swanson replaced Larson and Foster. The half ended: Brainerd 12; Aitkin 8.

The third quarter opened with an excellent shot by Swanson. Soon after Swanson received the ball from Franks and dribbled to find the net with a short shot. Marshall was fouled and made his shot. Franks followed with another gift shot. Aitkin closed the quarter with a field goal. Brainerd 18; Aitkin 10.

Aitkin started the fourth and almost fatal quarter with another field goal. Larson, Foster, McPherson and Templeton entered the game for the Warriors. Aitkin continued scoring with a charity shot, and another basket. White went in for McPherson. Aitkin slipped in another basket to leave them one point behind. Just shortly before the final gun Aitkin flipped in a basket that didn't count, but raised the dejected Brainerd fans from their seats in horror. The game ended: Brainerd 18; Aitkin 17.

Lineups were:
Brainerd—Templeton, Wygle, Foster, Swanson, F.; Larson, Franks, C.; Marshall, McPherson, White.
Aitkin—Brown, Peterson, F.; Nickander, Sullivan, Rude, Spurrier.
The referee was Piper from Minnesota.

SWANSON ADDRESSES COMMERCIAL CLUB

ALICE NOLAN DISCUSSES PLAYS;

SOLOS BY MURELL GOEDDERZ, MILDRED JOHNSON

Attorney Hilding Swanson addressed the high school Commercial Club at its second meeting of the year, held last evening at the high school. Mr. Swanson spoke on various duties of court reporting.

A business meeting was then held in the cafeteria which consisted of various reports of several committees appointed by the president, Louise Clausen. On account of the absence of the vice-president, Gertrude Gartner, Virginia Rowland was elected by the club to finish the remainder of the year.

Various plays were discussed by Alice Nolan as to an appropriate one to be given in the auditorium at a later date.

The following committees were then selected:

Program—Dorothy Hodge, Celeste Jackson, Bernice Kaatz and Astrid Lindberg.

Entertainment—Virginia Rowland, Helen Noggle, Kathleen Cardie and Esther Kleinschmidt.

Refreshment—Jean Cass, Lyle Anderson, Marie Thoe and Thora Nygard.

After a prolonged business session, the members of the club then adjourned to the auditorium where the following program was rendered.

Murell Goedderz, accompanied by her sister, Gertrude Goedderz, played various violin selections which brought an appreciative response from the club.

A piano solo, The Song of the Wanderer, was given by Mildred Johnson. To conclude the program, reading was rendered by Ruth Ballquist.

To conclude the meeting, the students proceeded to the cafeteria where a lunch was served under the supervision of Maleda Kleinschmidt.

The president wants to thank all those who participated in making the program enjoyable.

EXCHANGE

I have been asked why I have never put jokes in my exchange column. Some students say that jokes are part of our exchange. As long as the exchange editor does not have a very good sense of humor, she does not want to make the paper "boring." Nevertheless, here's an anecdote from Two Harbors paper:

Teacher: "Who originated the first geometry problem?"
Johnny: "Noah."
Teacher: "How's that?"
Johnny: "He constructed an arc."

Henry Ford is against prohibition but he still keeps on manufacturing those little cocktail shakers.

"Will you call me a taxi?"
"All right, you're a taxi."

We have all been the victims of criticism—sometimes just, sometimes unjust. And gossiping tongues can make life miserable if we choose to let them.

But why let unjust criticism worry us. We place ourselves on that low level on which critics stand when we stop to combat them. "Never explain anything; your friends do not need it, and your enemies won't believe you." To bemoan injustices and strive to improve them is a wasteful expenditure of energy. The result of all criticism is usually beneficial to you; for, if just, it brings your faults to your attention so that you may strive to mend your ways; and, if unjust, it soon disproves itself, bringing into relief your true character.

Therefore take criticism for what it is worth. Never let it hurt your feelings. If the shoe fits, put it on; if it doesn't, cast it aside without further thought.

SENIOR MEMORIAL TO BE AN OIL PAINTING BY MRS. J. G. HEALD

CLASS TO ADD SECOND LINK IN PICTORIAL HISTORY OF CITY

As a result of the Seniors' vote to have an oil painting done for the school by Mrs. J. G. Heald for a class memorial a committee of four, Gerald Cass, Maude Morcomb, Stuart Patterson and Janet Kampmann, spent a very pleasant afternoon interviewing Mrs. Heald on the subject of the painting. The purpose in choosing a picture instead of a statue, as some wanted, was to continue the work begun by the 1930 class in starting a pictorial history of Brainerd. Their memorial, which now occupies a prominent place in the library, was a painting of the arrival of the first white man, Zebulon Pike, in this country. Mrs. Heald suggested that the next step should be the first building in the city, the old trading post which still stands, greatly deteriorated by age and ill abuse, a harbor for weary "globe trotters." She mentioned other events which could be used, and mentioned the coming of the railroad, the Indians who inhabited this territory, natural resources which have led to our mining industry, and farming.

The decision is not yet final, as the committee must report at the next Senior meeting for the class to vote. Because of a lack of color in the Pike exploration picture which was a winter scene, this could be made a contrast, with all the bright hues of a typical Minnesota sunset used as a background with the building, as it was in those early days, silhouetted in the foreground. A few Indians with their ponies, and a white soldier, or some such group of figures, will give it life.

Mrs. Heald's home is in a very advantageous location to paint this picture, for she can sit on her front porch and work with the real trading post as her model.

Brainonian Advertisers Made Known to Students

For the purpose of stimulating student interest in the advertisers of the annual year book, two very attractive lithographs with the advertisers' names on are posted at each of the landings between the first and second floors. These placards were furnished by Buckbee Mears and Company, the engravers for the Brainonian annual. They are very brilliantly arrayed and are colorful to the eye. The names of each advertiser in the year book and the amount of space he has subscribed for have been inscribed on the placards by the art students. The advertisers for the 1931 publication who have already subscribed are as follows:

HOME HYGIENE STUDY SPONSORED BY RED CROSS FOR SOPHOMORE GIRLS

Pet Sayings of Teachers

Miss Ruth: Get ready for a speed test.
Miss Schow: Keep quiet. If the girls want to talk to the boys, come in after school.
Mr. Penrose: It isn't a quiz, just a written lesson.
Miss Taylor: Traduises, si vous plait.
Miss Spencer: These two rows will now pass to the board.
Miss O'Brien: Now, people—
Miss Mathis: Speak a little louder, please.
Mr. Rosel: How many tickets did you sell?
Mr. Dammann: (fiddling with chalk) Stand up please.
Miss True: Now in Chicago—
Miss Tornstrom: Why are you late?
Mr. Taylor: Down in Oklahoma—
Miss Flueck: Inspect your suits.
Miss Rickard: Start on page 3.
Mr. Melby: Study for your quiz.
Miss Torgeson: Have your work ready to hand in.

CARING FOR BABIES, SICK AND CONVALESCENT FOUND IN COURSE

Through the combined efforts of Miss Michael, city nurse, and Miss Flueck, the gym teacher, the Sophomore girls are receiving a thorough and most beneficial training in Home Hygiene and care of the sick. This is taught in two morning classes every Friday with all the equipment which helps to carry out the study.

This study is sponsored by the Red out the United States. They issue pamphlets, with an outline of this health Cross Society in many schools throughout the country which are purchased by the school and at the end of the year send out examinations which if passed satisfactorily, entitle the examinees to a National Red Cross certificate.

In the meantime the girls are industriously occupied with making beds, not only free but occupied, how to care for the sick and their rooms; and last but of not less importance they learn to care for the baby until it has grown to young womanhood or manhood.

With lectures on baths, care of the convalescent, fresh air and pure foods, medicines and other remedies, first aid, communicable diseases and community life, the girls will undoubtedly be able to cope with any emergency which may arise in the home or community.

The girls are finding the course very interesting and the "little mothers" are learning many useful things each Friday during their gym period.

WEEZY'S SNEEZES

We wonder if Davie has his way with the girls as much as he did with that forward from Aitkin Friday night?

Miss Laipple: "Why do we have two eyes?"
Mae Mc: "So we can wink with one and watch with the other."

Miss Spencer: "How many sides has an octagon?"
Robert C.: "Eight."

M. S.: "How many sides has a circle?"
R. C.: "Two—inside and outside."

Marie H.: "Did you know that I can jump higher than Washington Monument?"

Muriel G.: "Impossible. How come?"
M. H.: "Why, the Washington Monument can't jump at all!"

M. G.: "Hasn't that cow got a lovely coat, Ted?"
T. G.: "Yes, it's a Jersey."

M. G.: "Well, now, I thought that was its own coat."

PAT'S PATTER

Historical events around school. Literally, the first historical event around school is the weather. And is that historical! Yesterday was Groundhog Day and the poor animal had to discontinue his long winter sleep and start out looking for food. Early spring—Hurray! Arthur Lyon said in 1917 that that winter was unusual and that winter was the only one who has spring fever. Why, I actually sneezed when I saw a picture of a hay-field in that Forestry speech.

Not only is skating and skiing almost taboo this year, but I haven't had to wear overshoes all winter, and do I love to flap a wicked buckle! Almost my new skiing outfit went to waste and now Dad won't be persuaded that it will be out of style and he'll make me wear it next year. Such luck.

We're going to have a Camp Fire Girls' annual doings in a little while celebrating our anniversary.

Our declaim is going strong and half are eliminated already. If you see any students walking hails and mumbling things incoherently to themselves, it's only the contestants imitating some great (or lesser) celebrity; or, Mr. Penrose's students getting absent-minded trying to keep up with heavy assignments; or, better still, some poor Junior or Senior trying to review the list of things that must be done by request of parent, teacher, or desire. (Why social grilling will out.)

The Junior Class Play Staff are practicing every day including Sundays now. As the old saying goes: There's no rest for the wicked.

Miss Herwig is coming to visit our illustrious school next week. Of course everyone knows Miss Herwig, a teacher here last year, not mentioning her complimentary record on the Brainonian.

Here's one you haven't heard of but is very important. Brainerd has only been beaten twice this year and is facing a clean schedule. Of course Crosby is coming here soon and it means a close shave but we'll make it. Crosby will have to travel all the way over here for a licking. Well, bad pennies always return. (I'm full of bright (?) sayings today but don't quote me because I'm really only seemingly childish.)

STATE FOREST REP. GIVES TALK WITH AID OF SLIDES

STRESSES CONSERVATION OF NATURAL RESOURCES TO FURTHER PROSPERITY

Mr. Roberts, the head of the extension division of the State Forestry Department, was here yesterday with his picture slides for the purpose of showing the students pictures of things we may enjoy here in Minnesota.

Mr. Roberts talked to two groups, one from 1:20 to 2:20 and the other from 2:20 to 3:20. About 500 of the students were fortunate enough to go to the auditorium if they had either one of these two periods vacant. This is the first time the "silver sheet" has been down this year.

He told us that there were 85 towers in Minnesota in service. We were also told that it takes a tree 50 years to become suitable for lumber. We were shown pictures of various animals: moose (it is against the law to kill them), beavers (valuation of their dams), bears, deer, birds and fish.

Mr. Roberts' talk on the natural resources of Minnesota was very interesting, as there were many things he told which were unknown to most of us. Among the flowers we were shown was the Moccasin, our state flower. This flower is becoming extinct and he warned us against pulling these flowers up by the roots as they propagate from seed and take eight to ten years before they mature.

Some very pretty scenes of Itasca Park were enjoyed, too, and the part that the white snow plays in making it beautiful. He told us snow would soon be a great novelty to us.

Fire prevention was another topic he discussed and illustrated. From what we collected we hope we have a wet spring.

The last group of pictures was on the lakes of northern Minnesota. To make the scenes more picturesque the illustrations were of an Indian family in a birch bark canoe, and the last one of a man paddling a canoe at moonlight—a very appropriate ending!

We are all very grateful to Mr. Rhodes for bringing Mr. Roberts here, for we feel we should know more about our state which has such a history and so many natural resources.

COMING OR GOING WE CATCH 'EM

Miss Olson and Miss Clausen drove to Minneapolis Friday and remained over the week-end. Miss Clausen picked out some selections to be used in the declamation contest here. Miss Olson visited Miss Mildred Sundberg who taught General Science here three years ago.

Minnesota is the ideal climate as shown by the fact that there were all kinds of recreations to be indulged in over the week-end. The tennis courts were a popular spot Saturday and many of the students were seen participating in the old time sport of roller skating.

Miss Walkup spent the week-end in Minneapolis at the home of her parents.

Bernice Steinfeldt visited relatives in Minneapolis over the week-end.

Kenneth Stinson visited his relatives at Cross Lake over the week-end.

Speaking of coincidences there was a picture of Elizabeth Irvine in the Minneapolis Journal but the only difference between our own "Pat" and her was that this girl had dark hair and was good looking!

The teachers must have had a pay day lately as both Miss Walkup and Miss Taylor have new glasses.

MUSICAL CLUB GIVES HIGH SCHOOL PEP BAND LUDWIG DRUM

LARGE BASS DRUM, BEAUTIFUL AND STURDY, NOW IN USE

A beautiful woodland scene on a big Ludwig bass drum marks the donation of the Musical Club to the Brainerd Pep Band. It was chosen with the combined efforts of Mrs. W. A. Erickson, of the musical club, and Mr. Ford, the leader of the Pep Band.

Ludwig drums are noted for their tone and this one is especially beautiful and musical; it is 14 by 28 inches. It will be accompanied by a new rack, two straps that might parade with the school body on important occasions, a drum beater, and the symbol of the Brainerd Pep Band.

The Brainerd high school along with the high school pep band and its leader are very grateful to the generosity of the members of the Brainerd Musical Club.

Here also should be mentioned donations of the Boys' Band of Brainerd to the high school to whom they gave two brass horns and all their music.

With the help of these musical agents, a group of sturdy musicians, and a clever leader, the band is rapidly progressing and has formed a large part of the entertainment at the recent basketball games.

'Tumblers' Entertain Fans Between Halves at Game

Did you notice our brand-new idea in the half at the Aitkin game last Friday night? There were six boys picked and coached by Mr. Squier who displayed some little skill in "tumbling," the main act of which was a series of swan dives performed over the bodies of their preceding companions. The last to dive was Donald Hanson who made the feat a very graceful one over seven boys. Next, three of the younger boys gave a complicated affair in which they formed a whirling, sprawling design which was an education in itself. The tumblers, composed of two eighth-graders, four freshmen, two sophomores and one junior were very entertaining and gained a roaring applause.

Louise Clausen and Lee Clarkson at the drums furnished an appropriate accompaniment to the runs and dives of the performers.

Hugh Patterson, Junior at Macalaster college, visited with his parents, Rev. and Mrs. A. G. Patterson, over the week end.

Mille Lacs in the Sixth District

UNDER the reapportionment it is likely that two or three counties will have to be cut off from the Tenth district on account of the increase in population of the Minneapolis wards, says the Elk River Star News. If this is done the Princeton Union hopes Mille Lacs county will be shifted to the Sixth district and has the following to say about Congressman Harold Knutson:

"Here in Mille Lacs county we like our neighbor, Godfrey G. Goodwin of Cambridge, and gave him a good vote in the last election. But even the privilege of having Mr. Goodwin as our representative in congress would not compensate for the undesirable situation of being in a district more completely dominated by a slice of Minneapolis than is the Tenth at the present time. And if we must change congressmen, there is no one in the Minnesota delegation that looks more promising than Harold Knutson. Mr. Knutson has been in congress for fourteen years and he has considerable prestige in Washington. He is an indefatigable worker, has plenty of backbone and believes in looking after the interests of the home folks."

We believe the Sixth district would welcome the addition of Mille Lacs county. For a good many years Mille Lacs has extended right into the Sixth district country and was certainly out of place in the Tenth district. But perhaps Congressman Knutson would not be so keen for the addition because of the large number of Farmer-Labor voters over here.

Ladies' Physical Culture Classes

LADIES are taking a deep interest in the physical culture classes inaugurated by Miss Flueck. The attendance at the high school gymnasium was large last night, many new members having joined. Spectators, restricted to the gentler sex, numbered 35 or more.

It is surprising to see the stamina and endurance manifested by the ladies taking the course in exercise. They go through the various exercises with a hearty goodwill and a smile and never seem to tire. Miss Flueck varies the program and there is always something new to master.

The class has matrons as well as young girls. The uniforms are very becoming. The program is carried out with a dash and precision that compels admiration. Many have found that it offers a scientific aid to reducing, others that it keeps figures trim, and all that it is a real aid to health and vitality. The basketball play strengthens all muscles and improves the eye of the shooters.

Mild Weather Holds Threat for Flowers

MILD weather, a source of satisfaction to the consumer of fuel, holds a threat for florists and fruit growers, says W. H. Alderman, head of the division of horticulture, University Farm, St. Paul. As a result, gardeners and fruit growers are kept in a state of suspense.

The danger lies in the possibility of a sudden sharp fall in temperature. Should such a drop occur, says Professor Alderman, iris and other perennials would be likely to suffer; also such crops as winter wheat and strawberries. Strawberries have already suffered somewhat through an early fall freezing.

Moneys and Credits

READING the personal property lists one wonders if in proportion to population Crosby, Ironton and Deerwood have more moneys and credits reports than Brainerd or are the assessors more diligent in listing this section of a citizen's report.

In these days when savings accounts are growing heavier one would think there would be an appreciable increase in moneys and credits. The tax was purposely made low, only 30 cents a hundred dollars, so that everyone would report.

A CLOSE-UP view of the new governor of Minnesota certainly does not lower our opinion of the new chief executive of the state, says the Little Falls Daily Transcript. Governor Olson was enthusiastically received by the people of Morrison county on his first visit at Little Falls Friday and he returned to the capital with many, many new friends added to his list of acquaintances.

IN these days of drought, winter or summer, it is hard to interest persons in the building of a relief storm sewer for downtown Brainerd. However, if the summer brings some sudden two inch downpours it will bring the subject back in startling fashion as basements fill with water.

PLANS are being made by the Minnesota section of the Society of American Foresters for introduction of a bill in the state legislature providing for a reforestation program similar to that advocated by Governor Floyd B. Olson.

MANY dear old parents think the university campus is the start of so-called "necking," forgetting that many a freshman may have had preparatory school experience in this study, probably even majoring in it.

COYOTE hunting by airplane provides plenty of sport. Charles Aagard and Jack Crawford of Rapid City, S. D., amateur pilots, while cruising the prairies shot two coyotes and chased another into a hole.

LUNCHEON club orators sometimes "extend" themselves and are surprised when they see their talks in print. Witness the commotion caused by the remarks of Major General Smedley D. Butler of the Marines.

ST. CLOUD Elks are to put on a minstrel show February 11 and 12. The first section is minstrel, the second part a musical revue.

RAILWAY employees have organized a Booster club at Staples, similar to those organized at other points on the railway system.

WHEN Greek meets Greek there is generally trouble. Up in St. Louis county it is one sheriff against another.

STEARNS county Red Cross drought relief contributions totalled $636 on Saturday.

WARRIORS AGAIN VICTORS AS AITKIN GAME ENDS WITH SCORE OF 18 TO 17

ACTION SLOW UNTIL SCORE NEARS TIE AT END OF GAME

Coach Dammann's fighting "Warriors" vanquished a speedy Aitkin quint last Friday by a 18-17 score. The Brainerd high school boys struck up a quick lead in the opening minutes and held it during the conflict.

Marshall, veteran guard, though suffering from a bad cold, stood the whole game and proved himself a valuable man by breaking up innumerable fast Aitkin attacks by his presence of mind. Templeton was high point man for the Warriors.

The Warriors did most of their heavy scoring in the first and third periods, but were held scoreless in the final period.

The Warriors fought hard all during the game and found many holes in the visitors' defense. They shot innumerable short shots from within the defense that failed to connect.

The first quarter opened with two snappy close-in shots by Templeton, forward. Foster followed closely with a nice short shot to set them well in the lead. Aitkin retaliated with a couple of nice shots. Marshall followed with a perfect long shot. Then, shortly before the end of the period, Templeton received the ball on the foul line and wiggled through a small space between two Aitkin guards to score a set up.

White went in for McPherson to start activities in the third quarter. Aitkin found the loop for a nice shot. Bob Wygle substituted for Templeton, Aitkin pushed in another and Marshall followed by tapping in a nice one from scrimmages. Franks and Swanson replaced Larson and Foster. The half ended: Brainerd 12; Aitkin 8.

The third quarter opened with an excellent shot by Swanson. Soon after Swanson received the ball from Franks and dribbled to find the net with a short shot. Marshall was fouled and made his shot. Franks followed with another gift shot. Aitkin closed the quarter with a field goal. Brainerd 18; Aitkin 10.

Aitkin started the fourth and almost fatal quarter with another field goal. Larson, Foster, McPherson and Templeton entered the game for the Warriors. Aitkin continued scoring with a charity shot, and another basket. White went in for McPherson. Aitkin slipped in another basket to leave them one point behind. Just shortly before the final gun Aitkin flipped in a basket that didn't count, but raised the dejected Brainerd fans from their seats in horror. The game ended: Brainerd 18; Aitkin 17.

Lineups were:
Brainerd — Templeton, Wygle, Foster, Swanson, F.; Larson, Franks, c; Marshall, McPherson, White, g.
Aitkin — Brown, Peterson, F.; Nickander, c; Sullivan, Rude, Spurrig, g.
The referee was Piper from Minnesota.

SWANSON ADDRESSES COMMERCIAL CLUB

ALICE NOLAN DISCUSSES PLAYS;
SOLOS BY MURELL GOEDDERZ, MILDRED JOHNSON

Attorney Hilding Swanson addressed the high school Commercial Club at its second meeting of the year, held last evening at the high school. Mr. Swanson spoke on various duties of court reporting.

A business meeting was then held in the cafeteria which consisted of various reports of several committees appointed by the president, Louise Clausen. On account of the absence of the vice-president, Gertrude Gartner, Virginia Rowland was elected by the club to finish the remainder of the year.

Various plays were discussed by Alice Nolan as to an appropriate one to be given in the auditorium at a later date.

The following committees were then selected:

Program—Dorothy Hodge, Celeste Jackson, Bernice Kaatz and Astrid Lindberg.
Entertainment—Virginia Rowland, Helen Noggle, Kathleen Cardle and Esther Kleinschmidt.

Refreshment—Jean Cass, Lyle Anderson, Marie Thoe and Thora Nygard. After a prolonged business session, the members of the club then adjourned to the auditorium where the following program was rendered.

Murell Goedderz, accompanied by her sister, Gertrude Goedderz, played various violin selections which brought an appreciative response from the club.

A piano solo, The Song of the Wanderer, was given by Mildred Johnson. To conclude the program, reading was rendered by Ruth Falquist.

To conclude the meeting, the students proceeded to the cafeteria where a lunch was served under the supervision of Maleda Kleinschmidt.

The president wants to thank all those who participated in making the program enjoyable.

SENIOR MEMORIAL TO BE AN OIL PAINTING BY MRS. J. G. HEALD

CLASS TO ADD SECOND LINK IN PICTORIAL HISTORY OF CITY

As a result of the Seniors' vote to have an oil painting done for the school by Mrs. J. G. Heald for a class memorial a committee of four, Gerald Cass, Maude Morcomb, Stuart Patterson and Janet Kampmann, spent a very pleasant afternoon interviewing Mrs. Heald on the subject of the painting. The purpose in choosing a picture instead of a statue, as some wanted, was to continue the work begun by the 1930 class in starting a pictorial history of Brainerd. Their memorial, which now occupies a prominent place in the library, was a painting of the arrival of the first white man, Zebulon Pike, in this country. Mrs. Heald suggested that the next step should be the first building in the city, the old trading post which still stands, greatly deteriorated by age and ill abuse, a harbor for weary "globe trotters." She mentioned other events which could be used, and mentioned the coming of the railroad, the Indians who inhabited this territory, natural resources which have led to our mining industry, and farming.

The decision is not yet final, as the committee must report at the next Senior meeting for the class to vote.

Because of a lack of color in the Pike exploration picture which was a winter scene, this could be made a contrast, with all the bright hues of a typical Minnesota sunset used as a background with the building, as it was in those early days, silhouetted in the foreground. A few Indians with their ponies, and a white soldier, or some such group of figures, will give it life.

Mrs. Heald's home is in a very advantageous location to paint this picture, for she can sit on her front porch and work with the real trading post as her model.

Brainonian Advertisers

Made Known to Students

For the purpose of stimulating student interest in the advertisers of the annual year book, two very attractive lithographs with the advertisers' names on are posted at each of the landings between the first and second floors. These placards were furnished by Buckbee Mears and Company, the engravers for the Brainonian annual. They are very brilliantly arrayed and are colorful to the eye. The names of each advertiser in the year book and the amount of space he has subscribed for have been inscribed on the placards by the art students. The advertisers for the 1931 publication who have already subscribed are as follows:

EXCHANGE

I have been asked why I have never put jokes in my exchange column. Some students say that jokes are part of our exchange. As long as the exchange editor does not have a very good sense of humor, she does not want to make the paper "boring." Nevertheless, here's an anecdote from Two Harbors paper:

Teacher: "Who originated the first geometry problem?"
Johnny: "Noah."
Teacher: "How's that?"
Johnny: "He constructed an arc."

Henry Ford is against prohibition but he still keeps on manufacturing those little cocktail shakers.

"Will you call me a taxi?"
"All right, you're a taxi."

We have all been the victims of criticism—sometimes just, sometimes unjust. And gossiping tongues can make life miserable if we choose to let them.

But why let unjust criticism worry us? We place ourselves on that low level on which critics stand when we stop to combat them. "Never explain anything," your friends do not need it, and your enemies won't believe you. To bemoan injustices and strive to remove them is a wasteful expenditure of energy. The result of all criticism is usually beneficial to you; for, if just, it brings your faults to your attention so that you may strive to mend your ways; and, if unjust, it soon disproves itself, bringing into relief your true character.

Therefore take criticism for what it is worth. Never let it hurt your feelings. If the shoe fits, put it on; if it doesn't, cast it aside without further thought.

'Tumblers' Entertain Fans Between Halves at Game

Did you notice our brand-new idea in the half at the Aitkin game last Friday night? There were six boys picked and coached by Mr. Squier who displayed some little skill in "tumbling," the main act of which was a series of swan dives performed over the bodies of their preceding companions. The last to dive was Donald Hanson who made the feat a very graceful one over seven boys. Next, three of the younger boys gave a complicated affair in which they formed a whirling, sprawling design which was an education in itself. The tumblers, composed of two eighth-graders, one freshman, two sophomores and one junior were very entertaining and gained a roaring applause.

Louise Clausen and Lee Clarkson at the drums furnished an appropriate accompaniment to the runs and dives of the performers.

CARING FOR BABIES, SICK AND CONVALESCENT FOUND IN COURSE

Through the combined efforts of Miss Michael, city nurse, and Miss Flueck, the gym teacher, the Sophomore girls are receiving a thorough and most beneficial training in Home Hygiene and care of the sick. This is taught in two morning classes every Friday with all the equipment which helps to carry out the study.

This study is sponsored by the Red out the United States. They issue pamphlets, with an outline of this health Cross Society in many schools throughout hygiene which are purchased by the school and at the end of the year send out examinations which if passed satisfactorily, entitle the examinees to a National Red Cross certificate.

In the meantime the girls are industriously occupied with making beds, not only free but occupied, how to care for the sick and their rooms; and last but of not less importance they learn to care for the baby until it has grown to young womanhood or manhood.

With lectures on baths, care of the convalescent, fresh air and pure foods, medicines and other remedies, first aid, communicable diseases and community life, the girls will undoubtedly be able to cope with any emergency which may arise in the home or community.

The girls are finding the course very interesting and the "little mothers" are learning many useful things each Friday during their gym period.

WEEZY'S SNEEZES

We wonder if Davie has his way with the girls as much as he did with that forward from Aitkin Friday night?

Miss Laipple: "Why do we have two eyes?"

Mae Mc: "So we can wink with one and watch with the other."

Miss Spencer: "How many sides has an octagon?"

Robert C.: "Eight."

M. S.: "How many sides has a circle?"

R. C.: "Two—inside and outside."

Marie H.: "Did you know that I can jump higher than Washington Monument?"

Muriel G.: "Impossible. How come?"

M. H.: "Why, the Washington Monument can't jump at all!"

M. G.: "Hasn't that cow got a lovely coat, Ted?"

T. G.: "Yes, it's a Jersey."

M. G.: "Well, now, I thought that was its own coat."

RELIEF SEWER, PAVING TALKED

City Engineer to Prepare Estimates of Costs on Three City Improvements

MAY PAVE FOUR STREETS

Southeast Brainerd Drainage Ditch Again Considered by Council

A relief sewer for downtown Brainerd, paving of four streets and a drainage ditch for Southeast Brainerd were among improvements discussed for the city at last evening's council meeting.

City Engineer R. T. Campbell was instructed to prepare estimates of construction costs of the projects and report at the next meeting.

The relief sewer has been hanging fire for nearly three years. The presence of dry weather brought about its abandonment.

Ways of financing through assessment and sections of the city affected will be reported on by Campbell at the next meeting. He had previously reported an estimate of cost at $25,000.

The relief sewer was first considered on demands from store men downtown for protection of goods in basements. During the storms water had overflowed into basements, causing some damage. The argument was presented that the loss to goods in this way would not be as great as the assessments necessary for such a construction.

Backing up of sewer flowage is another reason, for the demand of the sewer.

The four streets proposed for paving are: Maple street from 5th to 6th; Norwood street from 5th to 6th; Oak street from 5th to 6th; Fifth street from Oak to Norwood.

The request for an estimate of cost for the Southeast Brainerd drainage ditch was passed on motion of Aldermen Ernest Ritari and Elmer Lee.

On motion of Aldermen W. J. Hall and Ritari, Mr. Campbell was instructed to petition the state highway department to improve the railway crossing in West Brainerd on Highway No. 2.

Alderman V. F. Anderson reported that $2,000 in general sewer bonds had been redeemed. He said that the city would bill on the county for $2,561.21 for poor relief.

The Northeast Brainerd alderman further asked permission of the council to bill on the Brainerd Board of Education and the county for $500 each to close their financing of the Mill Avenue drain which is now completed. With this done, the Water and Light Department, the Board of Education and the county will each have subscribed $2,500 to the project.

On motion of Aldermen Anderson and Hall the council requested the Water and Light Board to supply the Northeast Brainerd polling place with wiring and fixtures.

Disposal of the bell in the old Northeast Brainerd hose house was referred to the property committee with power to act on motion of Aldermen Ritari and Hall.

The Water and Light Department was requested to install fire protection at Lum Park.

The street committee was instructed to investigate the feasibility of inside left turns for downtown intersections.

The police were ordered to put a stop to motorists making a "U" turn at the tracks south of Laurel street on Broadway.

City Engineer Campbell was instructed to repair the cover of the catch basin at the northwest corner of Sixth and Laurel streets.

Frank Brandt was named a special policeman to patrol dances in the city. The Water and Light Department report for January showed: receipts, $17,455.31; disbursements, $4,005.25.

The Park Board report showed a balance on hand January 31 of $464.02. Milk and cream licenses were granted Wm. Bennewitz, Frank Wolvert and John Schiller.

R. C. Wyre was granted a renewal of a taxi license.

State Ballots Turned In

Deputy Auditor Henry Krause reported this morning that all state ballots cast in Crow Wing county at the November 4 election have been sent to Mike Holm, secretary of state, for a recount as petitioned in the contest election of the clerk of the state supreme court.

Irrigation Aids Farmers

St. Paul, Feb. 3. — While there is some general discouragement among northwest farmers due to prevailing low prices for certain commodities, this attitude is less pronounced among farmers on irrigated projects west of the Montana-Dakota line, John W. Haw, director of the agricultural development department of the Northern Pacific railway, said when he returned from a three weeks' trip along the lines of the company. These farmers on irrigated areas produce a wide variety of products with uniformly yields since irrigation is crop insurance, he said. He asserted that "the sprinkling of thrifty irrigated areas from Glendive, Mont., west to the Pacific coast constitute a secure backbone to the agriculture of this western country."

INJURIES ARE TREATED

Mrs. J. Owen Newman Walks to Near-By Home for Assistance; Cut About Ankle

Rolling over twice in her car when the brakes of the vehicle failed to hold, Mrs. J. Owen Newman, 511 S. 12th street, received painful but not serious injuries at 10:30 o'clock last evening.

Mrs. Newman was driving alone to her home from the Full Gospel Assembly. She drove south on 13th street along the N. P. shop fence. As the car climbed the hill an engine barred the crossing. When the brakes failed to hold, the vehicle started backwards down the hill rolling over into the gully.

Bleeding profusely from a cut on her ankle and suffering from bruises and hurts about her body, Mrs. Newman walked to a home. She was taken to the St. Joseph's hospital by Rev. Ivan Miller where after her injuries were treated she was allowed to go to her home.

The vehicle was badly damaged.

RELIEF SEWER, PAVING TALKED

City Engineer to Prepare Estimates of Costs on Three City Improvements

MAY PAVE FOUR STREETS

Southeast Brainerd Drainage Ditch Again Considered by Council

A relief sewer for downtown Brainerd, paving of four streets and a drainage ditch for Southeast Brainerd were among improvements discussed for the city at last evening's council meeting.

City Engineer R. T. Campbell was instructed to prepare estimates of construction costs of the projects and report at the next meeting.

The relief sewer has been hanging fire for nearly three years. The presence of dry weather brought about its abandonment.

Ways of financing through assessment and sections of the city affected will be reported on by Campbell at the next meeting. He had previously reported an estimate of cost at $25,000.

The relief sewer was first considered on demands from store men down town for protection of goods in basements. During the storms water had overflowed into basements, causing some damage. The argument was presented that the loss to goods in this way would not be as great as the assessments necessary for such a construction.

Backing up of sewer flowage is another reason, for the demand of the sewer.

The four streets proposed for paving are: Maple street from 5th to 6th; Norwood street from 5th to 6th; Oak street from 5th to 6th; Fifth street from Oak to Norwood.

With this done, the Water and Light Department, the Board of Education and the county will each have subscribed $2,500 to the project.

On motion of Aldermen Anderson and Hall the council requested the Water and Light Board to supply the Northeast Brainerd polling place with wiring and fixtures.

Disposal of the bell in the old Northeast Brainerd hose house was referred to the property committee with power to act on motion of Aldermen Ritari and Hall.

Irrigation Aids Farmers

St. Paul, Feb. 3.—While there is some general discouragement among northwest farmers due to prevailing low prices for certain commodities, this attitude is less pronounced among farmers on irrigated projects west of the Montana-Dakota line, John W. Haw, director of the agricultural development department of the Northern Pacific railway, said when he returned from a three weeks' trip along the lines of the company. These farmers on irrigated areas produce a wide variety of products with uniformly yields since irrigation is crop insurance, he said. He asserted that "the sprinkling of thrifty irrigated areas from Glendive, Mont., west to the Pacific coast constitute a secure backbone to the agriculture of this western country."

While there is a recognition among farmers of the fact that farm commodity prices are low due largely to business depression, he said there is evidence of faith that better times are ahead.

Police End Argument

An argument which started at a dance and was about to be settled by a little encounter was stopped by the presence of police and three young men as a result paid fines of $10 each when arraigned in municipal court before Judge J. H. Warner Monday afternoon.

For their conduct on 13th street near the shop fence late Saturday night Glenn Schnell, Ernest Rindahl and Lauren Nichols were fined.

WOMAN HURT AS CAR ROLLS INTO A GULLY OPEN ON FRONT ST.

Brakes Fail to Hold on Hill, Vehicle Backs Down Hill, Gets Out of Control

INJURIES ARE TREATED

Mrs. J. Owen Newman Walks to Neighbor Home for Assistance; Cut About Ankle

Rolling over twice in her car when the brakes of the vehicle failed to hold, Mrs. J. Owen Newman, 511 S. V. 19th street, received painful but not serious injuries at 10:30 o'clock last evening.

Mrs. Newman was driving alone to her home from the Full Gospel Assembly. She drove south on 13th street along the N. P. shop fence. As the car climbed the hill an engine barred the crossing. When the brakes failed to hold, the vehicle started backwards down the hill rolling over into the gully.

Bleeding profusely from a cut on her ankle and suffering from bruises and hurts about her body, Mrs. Newman walked to a home. She was taken to the St. Joseph's hospital by Rev. Ivan Miller where after her injuries were treated she was allowed to go to her home.

The vehicle was badly damaged.

Police observation of the poolhall was also demanded by the council.

The motion to grant permission to operate carried by one vote. Those voting in favor were Aldermen V. E. Anderson, H. W. Creger, W. J. Hall, Elmer Lee and Ernest Ritari.

Aldermen Chris Elvig, F. B. Johnson, W. J. Lyons and V. E. Quantstrom opposed it.

Opponents expressed the belief that since complaints were heard on the Laurel street location it was certain that complaints would be forthcoming on the Front street location.

One of the chief complaints of the poolhall was that men lounged on the outside making remarks to ladies passing by.

Attorney Hilding Swanson appeared for Villwock.

Council Acts on Report of Motorist Crashing Over Hill on Maple Street

Report of a motorist who crashed over the bank and down a gully at the east end of Maple street in front of Toger Peterson's store lead council men last evening to take action for protection of motorists on "dead end" streets in the city.

The motorist escaped unhurt, the council learned.

City Engineer R. T. Campbell suggested that glass retrieved from mushroom street lights not in use could be fitted into forms with mirrors to use as reflectors in protecting motorists. He said there were 20 streets in the city where warning lights could be placed.

President V. E. Quantstrom suggested that one of the warning lights be placed on the N. P. shop fence at the south end of Third avenue, N. E.

Suffering Made Life Miserable

"Sargon brought me wonderful health that I never expected to enjoy again. Stomach trouble and indigestion made my life miserable."

The school was conducted by Earl H. Rhodes the post's service officer and assisted by E. G. Roth who at one time held the office of service officer.

The subjects covered were Disability Compensation, Disability Allowance (pension), Adjusted Compensation (bonus), War Risk Insurance, Hospitalization, Death Compensation, Burial Benefits, Legion Hospital Association, and other topics closely related.

The meeting will have a far reaching effect as the men attending and hearing the discussions will be able to go out and inform others that were unable to be there.

The Legion's Rehabilitation Committee under Pat Cliff (past state commander) was prompted to have these schools conducted throughout the state because of the fact that there is such a large percentage of veterans that are wholly or partially ignorant of the benefits provided by the government. For instance, after all of the publicity that the national bonus or adjusted compensation has received, there is estimated that at least 5,000 veterans of Minnesota have not yet applied for their insurance under this act. Their lack of knowledge on the other laws regarding their welfare is perhaps as great.

The meeting was held last night at the regular meeting of the local American Legion Post. It was put on as a special feature and as a part of the Legion's state wide program of endeavoring to better acquaint the ex-service man outside of the Legion with the benefits that he is entitled to under the present laws governing veterans relief.

The meeting will have a far reaching effect as the men attending and hearing the discussions will be able to go out and inform others that were unable to be there.

The Legion's Rehabilitation Committee under Pat Cliff (past state commander) was prompted to have these schools conducted throughout the state because of the fact that there is such a large percentage of veterans that are wholly or partially ignorant of the benefits provided by the government. For instance, after all of the publicity that the national bonus or adjusted compensation has received, there is estimated that at least 5,000 veterans of Minnesota have not yet applied for their insurance under this act. Their lack of knowledge on the other laws regarding their welfare is perhaps as great.

KING TUT K. O. PETROLLE IN 24 SECONDS

10,000 FANS HARDLY REALIZE WHAT HAPPENED

FARGO EXPRESS FALLS VICTIM TO ONE OF MOST SPECTACULAR RUSHES

NEVER EVEN HAD CHANCE TO RAISE HIS HANDS, DAZED BY RIGHT TO CHIN

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 3.—(U.P.)—King Tut, the chubby fighting sensation of Minneapolis, Minn., and Milwaukee, Wis., was back in the limelight today as one of the world's leading lightweights after a 24-second victory over Billy Petrolle, the Fargo Express.

The 10,000 fans who paid more than $38,000 to see the fight, hardly realized last night what was going on until Tut had the conqueror of Jimmy McLarnin hanging helpless upon the ropes, every bit of fight knocked out of him.

Petrolle fell the victim of one of the spectacular rushes with which Tut usually opens his fights and he never even had a chance to raise his hands before he was dazed by a terrific right to the chin.

That first blow, a looping right delivered on the run, really ended the fight, but Petrolle kept his feet for a few seconds, long enough to ward off a few short punches and to take on the head a shower of lefts and rights that put him out for almost five minutes.

The victory greatly increased Tut's chances of forcing Tony Canzoneri to give him a chance at the lightweight title, with which he has been flitting for several years since he quit being a side-show wrestler and become a professional fighter instead.

The crowd was the largest ever to attend a fight in St. Paul. Petrolle received $12,000. Tut, who fought on a percentage basis, was expected to receive about $10,000. Both men weighed in at 138½ pounds.

In the semi-windup, Frankie Battaglia, 158, Winnipeg, knocked out Angelo Pugliesi, 154, Duluth, in the fifth round of their scheduled eight-round bout.

Daytona Beach, Fla., Feb. 3.—(U.P.)—Captain Malcolm Campbell, in the first officially timed test he has made since coming here to attempt a new automobile speed record, today drove his Bluebird II at 194.385 miles an hour.

PROCESS SERVER CLAIMS HE WAS SCHMELING VICTIM

JAMES RAHL, 19, SAYS HE WAS HURLED DOWN A FLIGHT OF STAIRS

CLAIMS TO BE UNDER TREAT- MENT FOR THE INJURIES RECEIVED

New York, Feb. 3.—(U.P.)—Max Schmeling, heavyweight boxing champion of the world, either beat up a process server so badly the latter required medical treatment, or he merely led an unknown young man to two doormen at Hotel Commodore who ejected him.

James Rahl, 19, weight 120, says Maxie hurled him down a flight of stairs when he attempted to serve him with a summons. Rahl claims to be under treatment for the injuries received.

"Cerebral concussion, a fracture of the nasal bone, contusions, torn ligaments, sprains and bruises, not to mention injured feelings, were among the injuries at his home, where his father, says that after 'the assault charge is disposed of there'll be civil suits'."

Schmeling, according to his manager, Joe Jacobs, didn't do any such thing as claimed by Rahl.

"We don't know if the fellow was a process server. Max was standing with three other fellows when up comes a tough looking guy wearing a cap and with a paper in his hand."

"The fellow was making for Schmeling. Machon (one of the other fellows) stopped him and asked him what he wanted. He didn't say nothing. He didn't say he was a process server. Schmeling grabbed him by the collar. He made a lunge at Machon, but he led him down the steps to 42nd street and turned him over to the doormen, just like a policeman would."

"We ain't afraid of processes. We got lawyers to worry about that. But Maxie can't be holding out a hand to everybody. Some guy might stick a pen knife in his hand."

That's the Jacobs-Schmeling version of the affair. And they're going to stick to their story.

STATUE OF PRESIDENT MONROE

The "lost statue" of President James Monroe, a titanic figure eleven feet high, carved from a solid block of Carrara marble thirty-three years ago for the Republic of Venezuela, is on its way to Virginia where it will be permanently placed and unveiled at Ash Lawn, near Charlottesville, where Monroe spent 26 years of his life. When it is erected it will be the first statue of Monroe, the original isolationist, author of the Monroe doctrine and thrice ambassador of the United States to foreign lands, to be erected in his native state. It will also be the largest figure of any statue now in Virginia.

You'd Be Surprised!

How simple a matter it is to own your own home if you have the ambition and determination to do so.

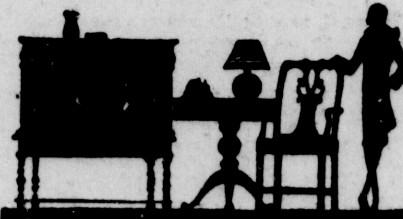

We know a street car conductor in Minneapolis who purchased a 2-family home 4 years ago, making only a small down payment. He has lived downstairs and has rented the upstairs. Today he owns the property and has a side-income from the upstairs.

We have an exceptional opportunity in a North Side duplex—modern and in fine condition.

It is priced at a bargain and is well financed. No trouble to show you this property.

Asks: What Is ACNE? Big Ugly PIMPLES

Yes! That's the simple answer, but Acne is more than just a big pimple—better to call it a big stubborn pimple. That's why you must fight this obstinate skin disease with something powerful enough to kill it and swiftly get the unsightly thing off the skin. So we advise all who are so unfortunate as to have Acne to get rid of it at once and for all by using Emerald Oil, a powerful, healing, antiseptic oil that no case of Acne, Pimples or Eczema can withstand. And those itchy toes that get raw and sore—the germs that cause it are killed by Emerald Oil. Don't waste time with weak washes—Emerald Oil is guaranteed by Johnson's Pharmacy, Economy Drug, H. P. Dunn and druggists everywhere to rid you of stubborn unsightly skin troubles or money back—an 85 cent bottle lasts 2 weeks. adv.
